the SAGA

Bloomfield College, Bloomfield, New Jersey

Dedication

A. August Lanna, II

It is the privilege of the Senior Class to dedicate the Saga to a person who has helped and guided us through our years at Bloomfield College. We wish this dedication to be an expression of gratitude for the help so willingly given and the friendship so freely expressed, by a man, who, to our good fortune, joined the faculty at Bloomfield College in the same year that we enrolled as freshmen.

We point with pride to the many and varied positions he has held in rendering service to his community. He was formerly Manager of the Standards Division of the Eagle Pencil Company and was Industrial Engineer with the Clark Thread Company. He was Vice-President of the New York Chapter of the society for the advancement of Management. Previously he headed the Time and Motion Study Committee directed the Industrial Training Division, and was on the Executive Board of the Pan-American Committee. He is at present Vice-President of Hardy and Bladek, Industrial Consultants.

We feel particularly grateful that a man with such a schedule of civic activities found time to spend in the development of a close relationship with his students. His availability when problems arose, his words of advice, and his genuine friendship made him a teacher who will be long remembered. In acknowledgment of the work he has done for the College, in gratitude for the aid he has given the students, and in special thanks for the friend and teacher he has been to us, we, the CLASS OF 1958, dedicate this book to A. August Lanna II.

Class Adviser 1954-1958

Robert W. Nichols

Mr. Nichols and our graduating class have, and always will have, strong ties. Beginning his first year of teaching at Bloomfield in the same year that the Class of 1958 began its studies, the coach, as he is better known, was chosen as our four-year class adviser. His congenial attitude, quick acting mind, and his perseverance won the hearts of our class immediately upon contact with him. We all consider Mr. Nichols as a personal friend and respect him for everything that he stands for as an instructor in Physical Education.

We will not forget the personal advice that he has given us in regard to our many problems. He accepted us as individuals and treated us not as a group. He has been a great inspiration in our endeavors to move forward in this progressive world. This inspiration can possibly be attributed to his training as a Physical Education Director. His active participation in his physical training classes has inspired his students to attempt to meet the high, but well worthy, standards he has set.

We shall never forget the unselfish and never-ending assistance that Mr. Nichols has contributed to the Class of 1958.

President's Page

Members of the Graduating Class,

As your Commencement Day approaches, our world becomes increasingly filled with anxiety. There is ground for concern. And yet, I like to think that you young men and women will have what it takes to measure up to the responsibilities which will encounter you when you walk off the Commencement pratform.

We hope that you have learned many things at Bloomfield, among them a more intelligent understanding of your obligations to your country and a greater respect for your fellow man.

With knowledge goes power. The issue in your generation will be whether you have the moral and spiritual discrimination to use the power which knowledge has placed in your hands for the good of your fellow man.

You have had at Bloomfield the mental discipline and the opportunity to cultivate the moral values which equip you to make your contribution to the betterment of the world you will leave to your children.

The degree to which you help to make that better world will be the measure of our effectiveness as a Christian College.

Our concern and our prayers will follow you.

Frederick Schweitzer

THE STAFF

It is with sincere appreciation that we acknowledge the untiring efforts of the staff in carrying on the business of Bloomfield College and Seminary, for it is through the perseverance and striving of such people that new facilities appear and the dreams of many become reality.

We, the senior class, would take note of the contribution of one staff member whose service to Bloomfield College extends within and beyond it in many fields of public relations, Mr. Gordon H. Price, Financial Assistant to the President.

Having seen two major new buildings dedicated in the last year of our active association with the Institution, we have a high degree of appreciation for these services.

Christian Fellowship, 1, 2, 3, 4; Chi Rho, 2, 3, 4; President, 4; Choir, 1; Dormitory Chairman, 2.

Beatrice Brautigam

Serene and calm in moments of crisis, Bea has been a mainstay at times of tension. Her effective leadership in our critical year proves her administrative abilities. Of all the blessings Bloomfield has brought to Bea, Kerry is the finest. An invaluable aid to the Admissions Office as well as one of the campus beauties, Bea is sure to be successful in the manse where her tact and charm will make her indispensable.

Vice President

Carol Snyder

Choir, 1, 2, 3, 4; Christian Fellowship, 1, 2; Chi Rho, 2, 3, 4; Gospel team, 3, 4; Saga, Business Secretary, 4; Minuteman Staff, 1, 2, 3; Variety Show, 1, 2; Dance Committees, 1, 2, 3, 4; Bloomfield College Key, 3.

Carol Snyder

Carol, a fun-loving person, is tops in secretarial efficiency. Her keen mind and willingness to put in extra hours of work when needed has been an invaluable help in the activities of the class. Her discrimination has proved her to be an essential member in activities in which she has participated. As a Christian Education major, she has been preparing for her vocation in the Christian Education field.

Secretary

Joyce Beverly Watson

Cheerleader, 3, 4; Chi Rho, 3, 4; Corresponding Secretary, 4; Christian Fellowship, 3, 4, Secretary, 4; Class Secretary, 4; Manager, Campus Store, 4.

Joyce Beverly Watson

Bev, an attractive transfer student from Orange County Community College, is truly a delightful person. She is susceptible to clownish pranks, chatters incessantly, and hates alarm clocks. An English major, Bev has a genuine interest in people and is always willing to listen to and help anyone with a problem. Her charm and poise give promise of a successful teaching career.

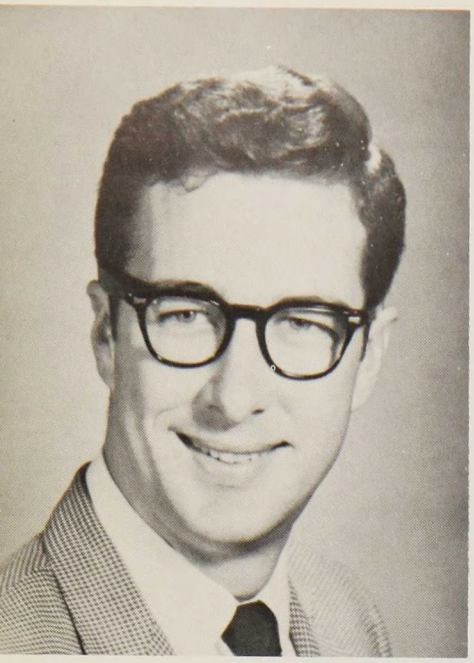
Treasurer

Vivian Abercrombie

Choir, 1, 2, 3, 4; Christian Fellowship, 1, 4; Chi Rho, 2, 3, 4; Variety Show, 1, 3; Cheerleading, 1, 2, 3; B.C.S.A. Secretary, 3; Saga Business Manager, 4; Dormitory Chairman, 3; Bloomfield College Key, 3.

Vivian Jeanne Abercrombie

Viv, a vivacious girl of never-ending pep, is well-liked by all. She enjoys a good, hearty laugh and is full of fun. "Oh gosh" is her pet expression. Her main weakness is a good cup of coffee no matter what time of day or night it may be. Part of Viv's serious nature shows an ability and interest in playing the organ. She enjoys her work as choir director and hopes to continue playing when she and Bill will be living next to a church.



Bruce B. Betz

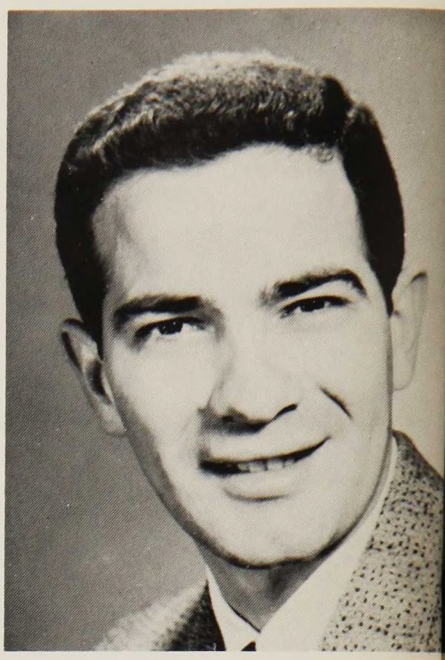
Minuteman Staff, 3, 4; Saga Editor, 4.

Bruce B. Betz

Bruce's enthusiasm for whatever activity he tackles is the quality that most impresses many of his friends. As editor of the Saga, Bruce has provided the initiative for cooperation in this project. He writes poetry as a hobby and can deliver both his own poems and others with conviction. His hearty laugh demonstrates his appreciation for good humor. Bruce plans to study further in Edinburgh as he continues his preparation for the Christian ministry.

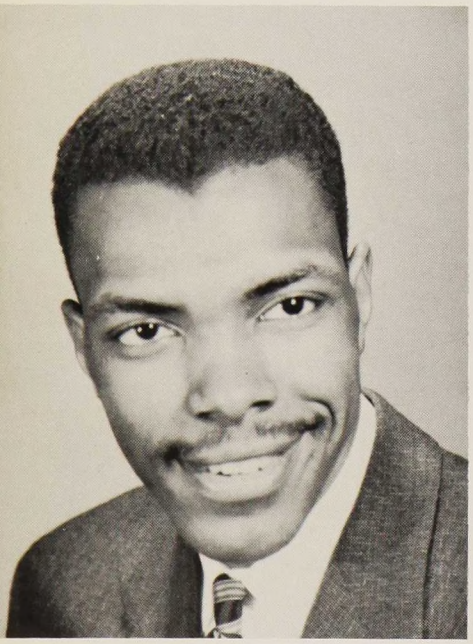
Patsy G. Caruso

Congenial and fun-loving, Pat has a ready smile for everyone. He has played hard and well on the basketball court and has developed into Bloomfield's highest scorer. He has always been thoughtful but cheerful, resourceful but energetic. Such qualities will be essential to Pat who hopes to enter the business world to become a personnel director.



Patsy G. Caruso

Business Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Basketball, 1, 2, 3, 4; Tau Alpha Kappa, 3, 4.



Roosevelt Davis

Laboratory Assistant, 4; Language Club, 4.

Roosevelt Davis

Roosevelt, a familiar fixture in the hallowed halls of Bloomfield these past four years, is noted for his lusty laughs usually following his own humorous comments—which only he appreciates. Besides being a Math major and chemistry enthusiast, Roosevelt is also noted for his eager comments about the capricious whims of girls and the "laments de l'amours".

Michael Feravola

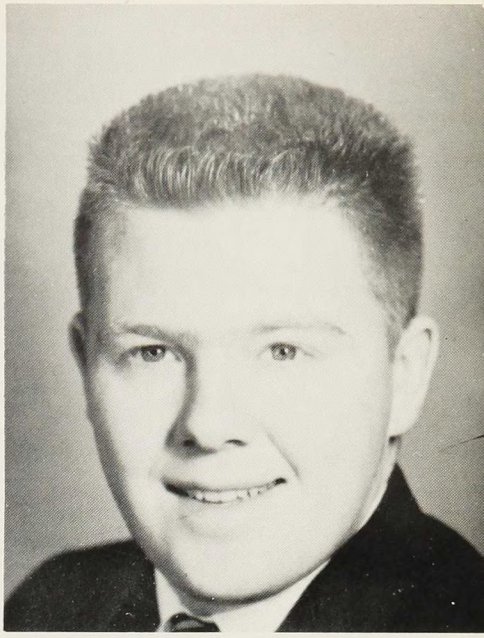
Mike, with the warmth and congeniality of a favorite uncle, has this last year been teaching part-time. It is a gratifying experience to know Mike, as many will bear witness, for his genuine sincerity is second only to his natural charm and vocal talent. His students could not choose a better model for these qualities than Mike himself.

Michael Feravola

Bowling Team, 1, 2, 3, 4; Variety Show, 3.

Donald J. Gaffney, Jr.

A transfer from Chapel Hill, Don is a man of few words. He moves about with quiet ease, is well-liked and easy to befriend. Tall and husky, Don likes active sports of all types. His active participation in Basketball, Baseball, and Soccer during the time that he has been at Bloomfield has shown Don to be a real asset.



Donald J. Gaffney, Jr.

Chairman, Athletic Committee, 3; Tau Alpha Kappa, 3, 4; Varsity Basketball, Baseball, Soccer.

Franklin W. Gaccione, Jr.

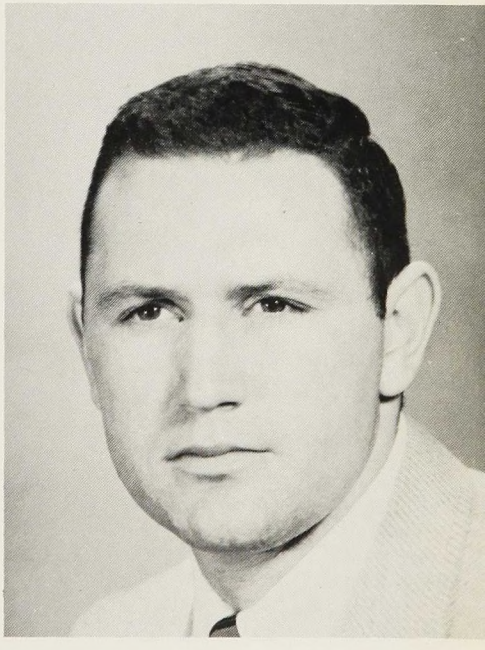
Frank has an abundance of enthusiasm for sports. His friendly hello is one of his attributes which won him many friends. Frank plans to start his teaching career soon after graduation. He also hopes to continue his studies in order to acquire his Master's degree.

Franklin W. Gaccione, Jr.

Tau Alpha Kappa, 4; Business Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Business Club President, 4, Vice President, 3; Varsity Basketball, 1, 2, 3; Varsity Baseball, 2, 3, Captain, 3; Dance Committee 3.

Howard Goldberg

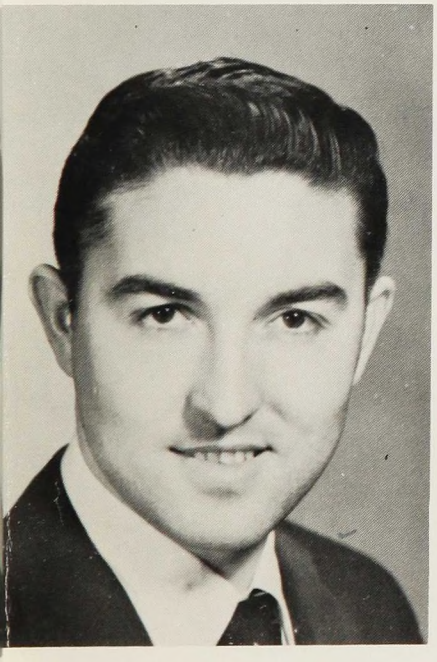
Mild-mannered and pleasant, Howard leaves Bloomfield hoping to achieve success and happiness in the business world. A commuter student while at Bloomfield, Howard is notorious for "that cup of coffee" after Spanish. A well-groomed person and sports-minded, he finds justification in being peeved at people who comment, "Bloomfield College . . . where's that?"



Howard Goldberg

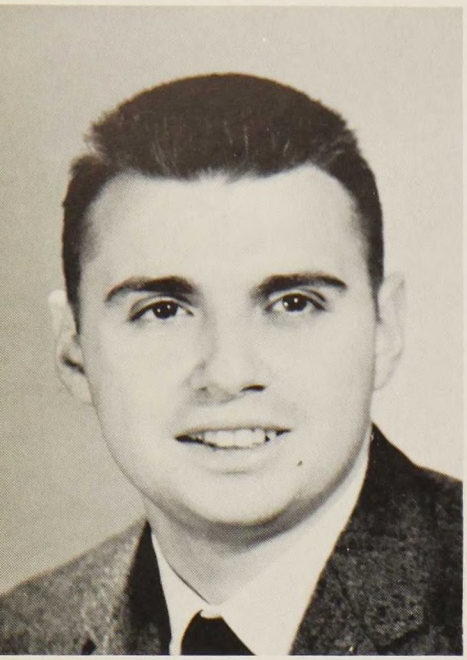
John Paul Godocik

John, a serious person, is indeed a gentleman and a diligent student. He is a folk music and polka enthusiast. A man with a green thumb, John considers gardening a good pastime. As John begins further preparation for the Christian ministry, he starts out with convictions of great strength. This, in combination with his concern for the problems of young people, leads us to expect a fruitful pastorate.



John Paul Godocik

Christian Fellowship, 1, 2, 3, 4; New Jersey Intervarsity Christian Fellowship, 1, 2, 3, 4; Chi Rho, 2, 3, 4.



Thomas Mack

Business Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Varsity Basketball, 1, 2, 3, 4; Tau Alpha Kappa, 3, 4.

Thomas Mack

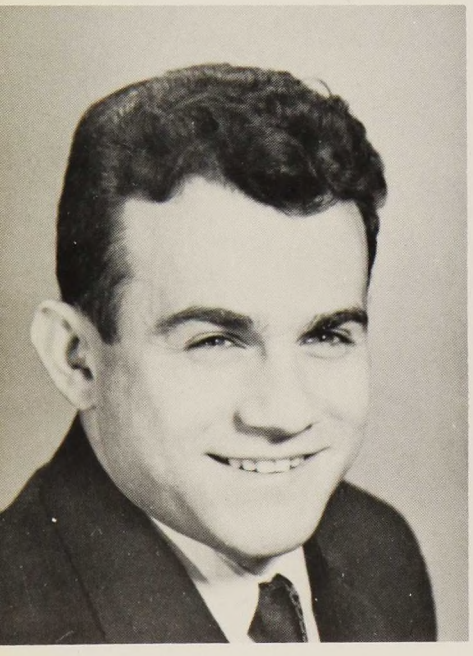
Tom, a well-liked personality on campus because of his unassuming ways, is a big man on the Varsity Five at Bloomfield. If Tom, a person of staunch integrity, puts as much heart and enthusiasm into his profession (business personnel) as he has displayed in basketball games which he has played for Bloomfield, he will no doubt go far.

Joseph Martinelli

It has been said and rightly so: "Whenever a crowd collected round, Joe, in its center, was always found." Joe, who has a keen mind and a broad sense of humor, has in addition a genuine appreciation of others. He has played a leading role in student activities which have always been successful because of his effective leadership. Straight-forward and firm in his convictions, Joe is sure to be successful in the teaching profession.

Joseph Martinelli

Cheerleader, 1, 2; Basketball Manager, 1; Soccer Team, 1; Sophomore President; B.C.S.A. President, 3; Variety Show, 1, 3; Dance Committee, 1, 2, 3, 4; Choir, 2; Tau Alpha Kappa, 3, 4.



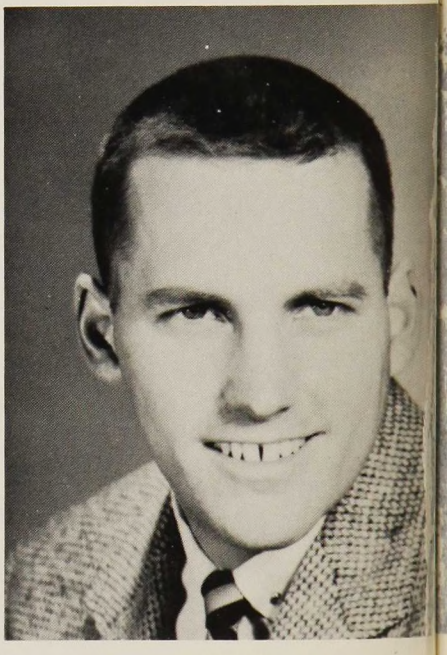
Ralph Mazzuca

Ralph Mazzuca

Ralph, really an elusive personality on campus at Bloomfield, has been somewhat of an isolationist in school activities and personal appearances. Nonetheless, he is a friendly and helpful person. One who enjoys sports, both to participate and observe, he is partial to hunting. After graduation Ralph hopes to pursue his ambition as an Industrial Arts teacher.

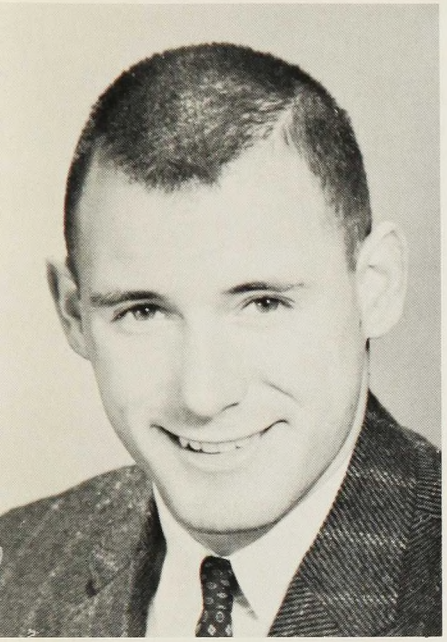
Thomas Donald McNeill

Though one of the more quiet students on campus, Don is alert, witty and a good sport. One of the top five on the basketball team, Don has proved to be an asset to Bloomfield College. Having good interests such as fine music, amicable people, Don hopes to be a kingpin in the advancement of the business world.



Thomas Donald McNeill

Business Club, Varsity Basketball, Tau Alpha Kappa.



Daniel Scott Mittelman

International Language Club, 4; Tau Alpha Kappa, 3, 4; Varsity Soccer, 4; Basketball, 1.

Daniel Scott Mittelman

Dan, with an alert and meticulous mind, is serious and is usually seen deep in thought when alone. Though these may seem to be the characteristics of an aloof, reserved person, it can be said, in all honesty, that Dan "mixes well."

Richard John Murphy

Dick, a business major, is probably the only commuter student having to travel such a long distance in commuting each day. The distance stretches from the tundra-lands of North Jersey, Hackettstown to Bloomfield. As everyone knows, Dick is a regular guy who has a quick smile and sharp wit. Liking everything and everyone but phonies, there is only one thing one has to fear—being in the way of his "red bomb" on the highway between Bloomfield and Hackettstown.

Richard John Murphy

Business Club, Tau Alpha Kappa.

Mario Niel Pelino

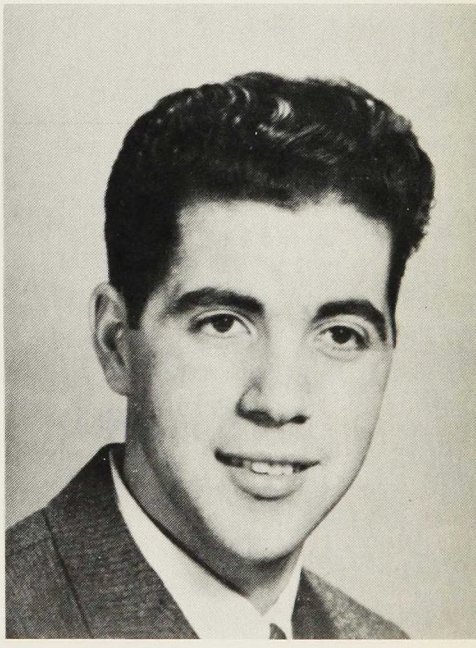
Track Captain, 3, 4; M.U.P. Track, 2; Soccer; Business Club; Minuteman Staff, Saga Staff.

Mario Niel Pelino

Mario, happy-go-lucky, well liked person, has a terrific personality. Being a good sport, but one who hates to lose, he is a rare combination of good athletic and scholastic abilities. It is believed, by those who know Mario's track prowess, that he is one of the fastest New Jersey collegians. With his keen sense of humor and warm personality Mario will do well in the business world.

Norman Robles

Norm, a very talkative person, is known for his friendliness and kibitzing. Liking sports of all varieties, Norm's pet diversion is reading a good deal about the Civil War period. Having majored in business management, Norm hopes to secure a position in the field after graduation.



Norman Robles

Basketball, 1, 2; Treasurer, 3; Adelphos, President, 4; Dance Committee, 4.

Bob Rosner

Track Team, 1; Minuteman Features Editor, 3 ,4; Assistant Editor, Saga, 4.

Bob Rosner

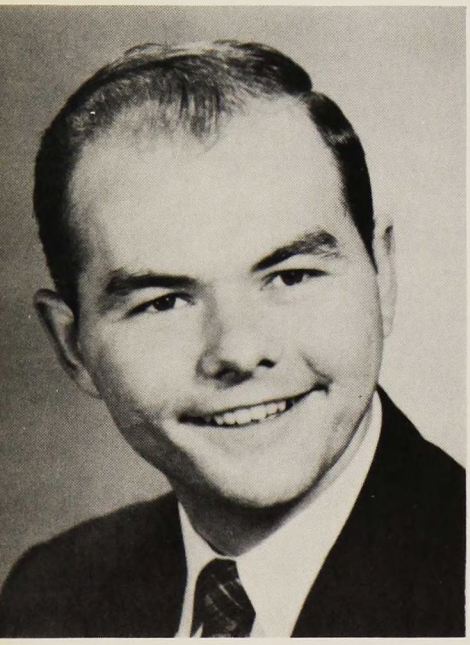
Exteriorly sober, ulteriorly thoughtful, Bob is ulteriorly mischievous. Those who know Bob can appreciate this brief commentary because of the notoriety he has achieved with his famous (infamous) puns. It cannot be denied, however, that Bob has been a true asset to Bloomfield with the fine work he has done as Feature Editor on the Minuteman Staff during his junior and senior years.

Charles Schaum

Chuck, possessor of a warm, sincere personality, is good hearted, naive, and full of unintentional humor. His calm and thoughtful manner as a leader has won him the respect of many. Chuck's main objective is to become an effective Christian minister.

Charles Schaum

Chi Rho, 3, 4; Track Team, 1, 2; Christian Fellowship, Treasurer, 2, 3; Manager, Dikovics House, 2, 3; Junior President; Variety Show, 1, 3; Choir, 2; B.C.S.A. President, 4.



Stanley Hoyt Shields

Business Club.

Stanley Hoyt Shields

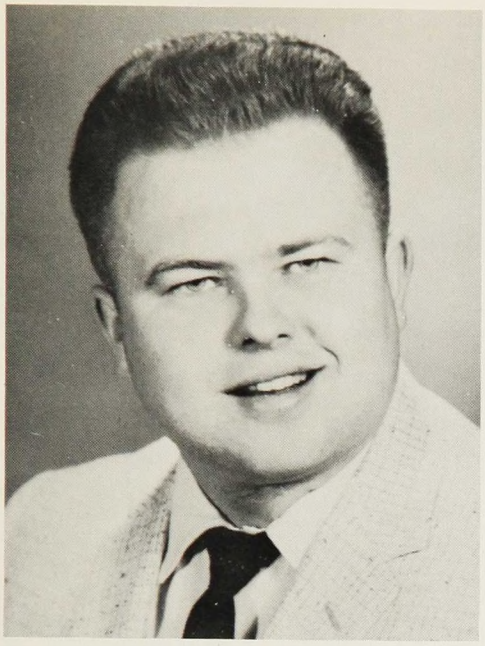
Stan, a gregarious, courteous fellow, is the pleasant type of person always on hand when he is most needed. The outdoor type, Stan finds hunting and fishing most interesting and invigorating. However not entirely the nature boy type, he also enjoys interesting people and lively discussions.

Donald R. Steinmetz

Reserved and thoughtful, Don is noted for his attitude of respect which he shows to everyone. He has a special admiration for intellectual development and sincerely hopes to emulate those who are guiding him in the ways of broadening the mind. Don greatly enjoys watching and participating in sports — football, baseball, bowling, fishing, etc. He leaves Bloomfield hoping to become reasonably successful and happy in business.

Donald R. Steinmetz

Business Club.

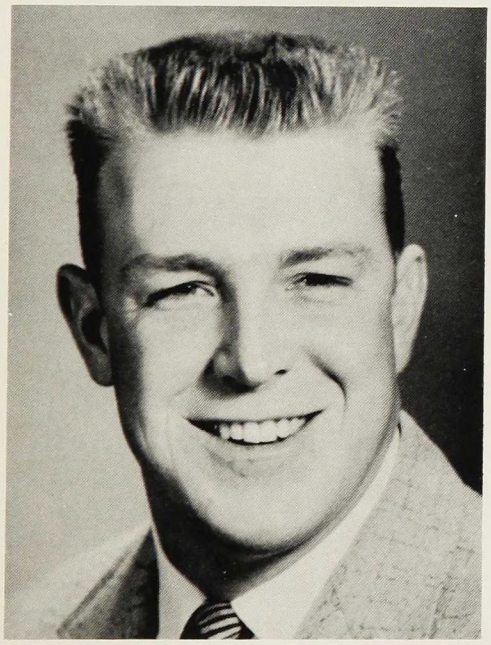


Robert H. Sutherlin

Business Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Bowling Team, 1, 2, 3, 4.

Robert H. Sutherlin

Though another of the quiet lads about campus, Bob has a large following of admiring friends. Being a serious person, he is usually called upon to act as arbiter in arguments (usually sports) between less informed friends. One of Bob's fine interests, besides his studies, is the bowling team. Under the able direction of Mr. Nichols, coupled with Bob's ability, the team has made a good record.



Donald Wernes

Bowling Team, 1, 2, 3, 4.

Don is one of the few successful mathematical minds coming out of the senior class. He has for the last year been teaching part-time in a junior high school and is acquiring the few remaining credits needed for graduation. Though his interests are many and varied, Don plans to continue in the teaching profession as an algebra teacher.

This year's junior class boasts a really long-distance commuter, Esther Hsu — from Evanston, Illinois! Of course, Esther "commutes" only three or four times during the course of a year, but she demonstrates the fact that our juniors are willing to "go a long way" to make their class a success.

An important "first" sponsored by this year's junior class was the initial dance held in the new gymnasium. The juniors have made a primary contribution in the dance department. All B.C.S.A. dances, for example, have come under the chairmanship of one of the members, Bob Walters. Dikovics House, which also plays a considerable part in the success of such social get-togethers, has been supervised by another junior, Dick Seigfried.

Juniors are proud of their five "two-letter" (baseball and basketball) athletes: Bill Aierstock, Bob Bergamesca, Phil Paladino, Al Restaino, and Fred Riccio.

This has been a predominantly social-minded class. The school is grateful for the organizing, fraternizing spirit shown and is certain that this will carry over into next year's senior class.

The statistics on this year's sophs speak loudly for their achievements, with, it seems, special emphasis on athletics.

Of 66 students on the sophomore roster, 19 or almost a third of the group are active in school-sponsored athletic programs.

Other important facets of the sophomore activities are:

A. Bulletin Board Committee

B. Dances

The maintenance of the bulletin board is a function too often taken for granted. Considerable chaos could result if the board were neglected for as much as one day. Under the supervision of class president, Dick Couch, the sophs have done an excellent job on the bulletin board committee.

Dick, and class vice-president, Earl Eisenbach, have also provided the guiding spirit behind such successful social get-togethers as the Thanksgiving Dance at the West Orange Armory.

Yes, '57-'58 was a good year for the sophomores. Dick Bolton, soph on campus living farthest from home (Reading, Pa.) feels that it was well worth the trip.

The Freshman class has plenty of youthful spirit, but it is the presence of its two "oldsters" that stand out. This is one of the most unusual classes in the history of Bloomfield College because it boasts both a Polynesian princess and a man who has been a Baptist minister for seven years.

These two older freshmen add a note of maturity to a class which is otherwise notable for its expected youthful boisterousness. Not that our freshmen are commotion creators, but they do, under the leadership of Ralph Howarth, class president profit from guidance which directs their restless energies into constructive channels. One result of directing this youthful pep into projects for the good of the school has been the excellent service the frosh have rendered in running the refreshment concessions at our basketball games. Our eyes are on these younger freshmen perhaps more than on Princess Miri Rei and Reverend Green, who have approached closer to their goals in life.

SAGA STAFF

Staff members discuss progress of the Saga.

EDITORIAL

In September the Saga Staff members and I, took upon ourselves the project of producing a yearbook for the Class of 1958. We were not fully aware of what the job intailed but, we soon found that the yearbook business was a challenge.

With dubious promise of success, the Staff took up the challenge, determined that the Graduating Class of 1958 should have a yearbook that would be a credit to both the Class itself, and the College.

The first step was to contract with a well established and reliable publisher. After two weeks (and four price bids) the Class of 1958 contracted with Progress Associates, Publishers of East Paterson.

The following ensued in a somewhat scrambled fashion: lay-out plans, photos, write-ups, proof-readings, late hours, black coffee, deadlines, and many laughs which enlivened our sometimes tedious editorial con-fabs.

The overall cooperation from the students was most heartening and noteworthy. It is the sincere wish of the Saga Staff that in the future the students cooperate and respond in all College activities as they have in respect to the Saga Project.

The members of the Saga Staff and I truly feel that working to produce the Saga of 1958 has not only broadened our life-concept perspectives, but, it has enlightened us as to the real meaning of responsibility. Would that all students could have the opportunity which the yearbook enterprise affords.

With pride, the Staff presents the 1958 Saga, hoping that the recipients of it have many enjoyable hours as the nostalgia increases in the years that lie ahead.

ORGANIZATIONS

DIKOVICS HOUSE COMMITTEE

Dikovics House Committee

Dikovic's, the gray stucco house with the green trim, on Austin Place behind the College, is the student forum where students gather day and night.

In the afternoon the commuting students are usually found using the snack bar facilities, watching T.V., and indulging in controversies of not too profound significance.

In the evenings the resident students, seeking a break from their studies, gather at the Recreation Center to gab, drink soda or coffee, and also watch T.V.

The Dikovic's Recreation Center is a Campus institution toward which the students hold high regard. The members of the committee (above) have a great deal of patience, they work hard, and they are to be highly commended for a job well done.

Students make use of Snack Bar facilities in Dikovics House.

Choir

The school's good-will ambassadors, known collectively as the Bloomfield College Choir, spend many enjoyable hours making trips to churches to participate in worship services and special programs taking part in school functions, and presenting concerts. Many new friends are made for the college through the personal contact of the choir. Every year the choir has given successful Christmas and Spring concerts. The most memorable event in our four years of listening to, or singing with, the choir was the presentation of Honnegger's King David, last year.

The choir has also been a pleasurable part of such special events in our college years as Convocation, graduation, and the dedications of the new buildings. It is with appreciation that we recognize the choir's continual endeavor to serve the school through the field of music.

The purpose of the Bloomfield College Student Association is to promote full understanding, cooperation and representation among the students, faculty administration, and general public. It is to provide, support, and encourage social and other extra-curricular activities, which are not included in the official program of the institution.

The Student Association is composed of: the Student Council, Presidents of Club Organizations; the Managers of the Student Center; the Presidents of classes; representatives of all publications on Campus; and the Campus Store Manager. These individuals are chosen by the President of the B.C.S.A., who carefully studies the qualities of these people before appointing them to their positions, in order that his administration might be one which is both workable and systematic. It is the purpose of the B.C.S.A., also to present a social calendar, which will promote relationships of good will to all members of the student body.

The function of the Student Organization is one concerning independence. The Student Council operates free from advisorship, although the advice of the Dean of the College is frequently pursued. Responsibilities contained in each of the separate offices, trains the individuals in definite aspects of student growth, student responsibilities, and student obligations, in both the political and social systems of our society.

The Minuteman, student newspaper, is a highly prized organization on Campus. It not only serves to inform the students as to what is going on in collegiate life, and air student views, but its purpose is also to create a good student-to-student and student-to-faculty relationship.

The journalistic and editorial aspects of this campus newspaper have been brought up to such a noteworthy standard under the leadership of Dr. Elizabeth Ritchie, Advisor, and Hewes Aronstam, Editor, and the other staff members that the Minuteman is seeking membership in the National Journalistic Fraternity of Pi Delta Epsilon.

The Chi Rho Club's membership consists of those students who are planning on entering the ministry or the field of Christian Education. Speakers are secured to aid the students in their endeavors to achieve their goals. A highlight of each year is the one-day retreat to a church for the purpose of renewing spiritual conviction. A main activity is the sending out of gospel teams to various churches to conduct worship services and lead special youth group meetings. Throughout the year the club holds worship services for particular holidays.

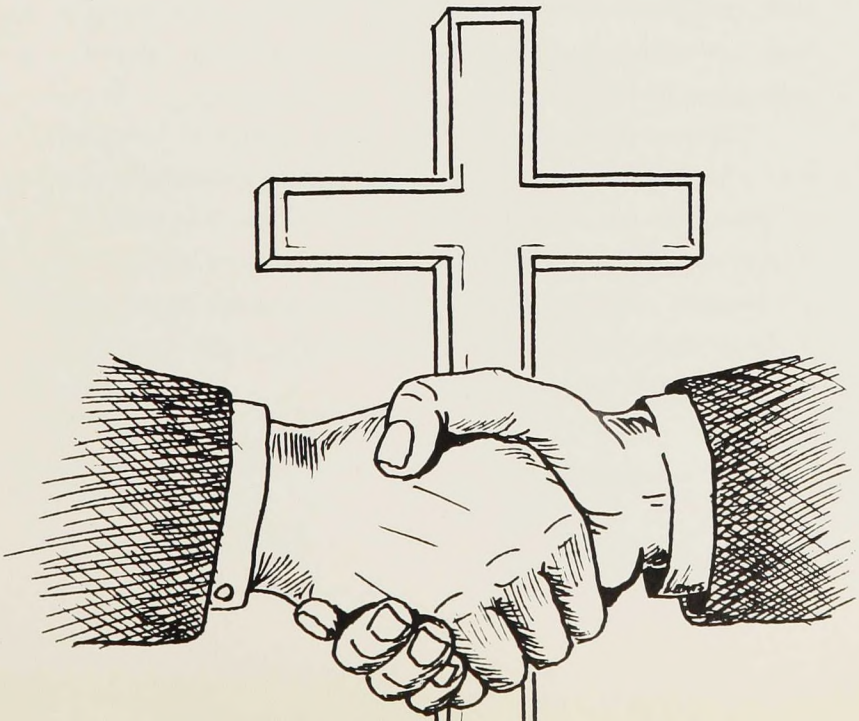
Christian Fellowship provides an opportunity for the students to meet at the home of Professor Slater for the purpose of strengthening spiritual values in their lives. Interesting speakers are brought in to lead discussions on pertinent topics of interest to the students. Teams of students visit the Good-Will Mission in Newark and conduct worship services. Through the effort of this club the feeling of fellowship among the students is heightened.



T.A.K.

First Row: M. Kelhoffer, J. Holtz, B. Schmid, J. Kelt, P. Comune, R. Bergameska, A. Restaino, J. Grimaldi, H. Aronstam, G. Belford. Second Row: R. Girvin, J. Martinelli, R. Romeo, D. Gafney, T. McNeil, D. Mittleman, F. Gaccione, J. Long, A. Molinaro, C. Schaum. Third Row: P. Paladino, W. Aierstok, F. Riccio, D. Pizzi, P. Carouso, R. Murphy, W. Zick, A. Luongo, W. Johnson, T. Mack.

TAK is a club-fraternity on campus comprised of sports-minded and sports-inclined students. Their existence contributes greatly to campus activities. TAK members' main interest lies in playing competitively among themselves and outsiders.

TAK has a monthly meeting in the lounge of Seibert Hall where they settle business and discuss money-raising projects. The bus rides to "away" basketball games and dances are sponsored by TAK in the course of the academic year. The accomplishment TAK is most proud of is the plaque in the gym dedicated to the most Versatile player of each academic year.

Adelphos

In Greek, Adelphos means brother. The Adelphos Club is thus founded on the principle of brotherhood and upholds Christian principles.

One purpose of the organization is to provide campus social functions throughout the year. Through these activities, the Adelphos hopes to get day and resident students better acquainted.

Membership is by invitation, any male Bloomfield student who meets club standards being eligible. One of the most recently organized clubs on campus, the group is growing rapidly and becoming a permanent part of the college.

International Language Club

The International Language Club is the merger of all the language clubs existing on campus up to 1957. Students having courses and interests in various languages meet to enlarge upon their knowledge of their particular interest.

Many field trips are planned and executed during the course of the academic year. On these field trips students attend the showing of foreign-produced, directed and acted films. Another of the added attractions on these field trips is the opportunity to tickle their palates with foreign cuisine.

The efforts of the International Language Club to promote a better understanding of other peoples and their customs is exemplary and true to Bloomfield College Spirit.

Campus Life

Preparation for life is not only acquired from books, lectures, and intensive study. Good, wholesome recreation is a necessary requisite for building a broad and optomistic perspective in a student. For this reason there exists many activities on campus in which the student may participate.

The most prominent of these campus activities are the student Variety Show, Freshmen Initiation, Open House at Liberty Hall, and Chapel. The students eagerly respond to these activities. Chapel, which occurs every day, provides spiritual broadening for the student and a break from the day's routine. Among the warmest and most esteemed memories a student carries away from Bloomfield College are those acquired from his participation in the campus activities.

A great deal is required in building up an institution such as Bloomfield College is presently and promises to be in the very near future. In scanning the structural progress at Bloomfield one rarely takes time to see beyond the material, the superflous, the eye-level obvious. The ingenuity, strength of character, untiring efforts, and boundless energies of the people behind the scenes are often obscured by objects of the surface and are often neglegently overlooked by the casual observer.

In her era of growth, it is Bloomfield's good fortune to have two men without whose efforts her advance may not have yet arrived. These men are Mr. Gordon Price and Dr. J. Frederick Cook.

Too much cannot be said in regard to Mr. Price, whose genius for raising money and strength of personality has done more to make the realization of our Library and Gymnasium possible. These two structures on our campus stand as monuments of Mr. Price's devotion to both the College and the Seminary at Bloomfield.

As we are deeply indebted to Mr. Price for getting the construction program initiated and underway, we are equally indebted to Dr. Cook, architect, for all he has done in the actual construction of our library and Gym. More than an architect, Dr. Cook has been dear friend to Bloomfield and his omnipresence at the scenes of construction has made a familiar personality to the students.

In the future when we look in retrospect upon Bloomfield, and note with pride her advances, surely we will not forget Mr. Gordon Price and Dr. J. Frederick Cook whose influence, energies, and aesthetic capacities are implemental and inspirational to Bloomfield's growth and character.

SPORTS

Basketball

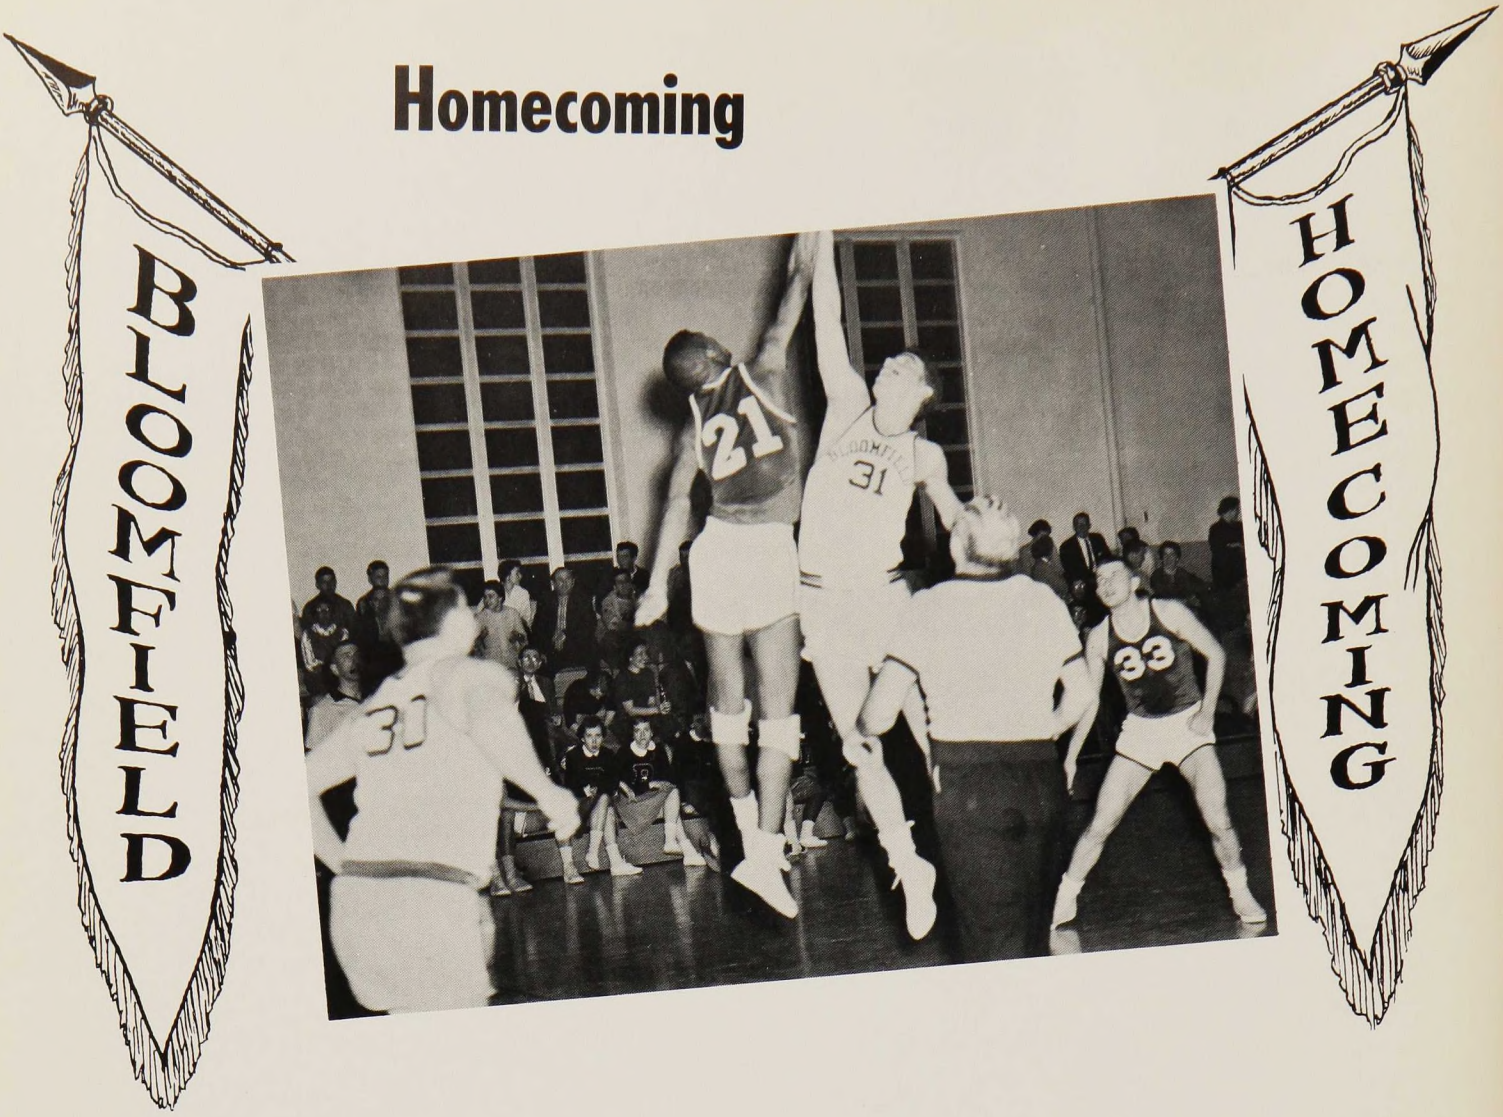
It is with pride that we point out the achievements of our basketball team. Three seniors have made outstanding contributions to these achievements. Pat Caruso has shone with a 1,500 point record and as a capable and skilled captain. Close behind him is Tom Mack with a 1,300 point accumulation. Tom McNeil has been of great support to the team with his sharp and alert playing.

The completion of the gymnasium has been a great boost to the morale of students and team. A place of our own in which to play and watch the games means much to all of us. However, we are proud of the fact that no matter where our team has had to practice and play, they have never displayed unsportsmanlike conduct or unfair play. We are also very proud of the record with which the team has ended each season. There have been several games that remain clear in our memories, among which are the games with our traditional rival, Montclair State, the 1958 Homecoming game with Monmouth, and our defeat of Panzer—the first in Bloomfield's history

Basketball is one of the greatest publicity items for the College and we are grateful that our team has given us such good publicity.

Homecoming



Every year the Alumni of Bloomfield College look forward to returning and seeing how the College has progressed within the last year. This year they were able to return and enjoy the benefits of a new gymnasium—even more meaningful to them because of their memories of gym classes held in the basement of Knox Hall.

During the day Alumni enjoyed visiting with old friends and meandering around the campus and touring the dorms. A dinner held in their honor was followed by the annual Homecoming basketball game — this year our opponent being Monmouth College. The Alumni were treated to a thrilling, close game which ended in victory for Bloomfield.

As is traditionally the case, the program was conducted by our B.C.S.A. Vice-President, Bill Aierstok.

It is with eagerness and interest that we look forward to returning next year for the class of 1958's first Homecoming.

Cheerleaders

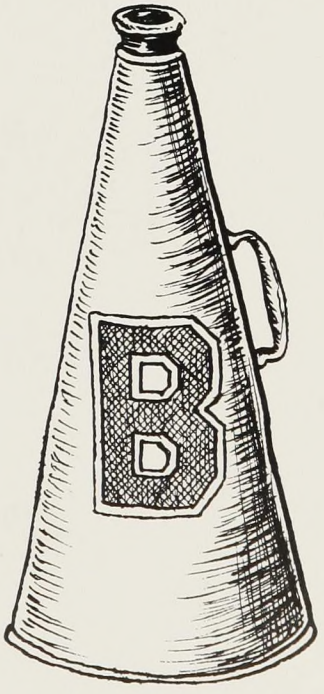
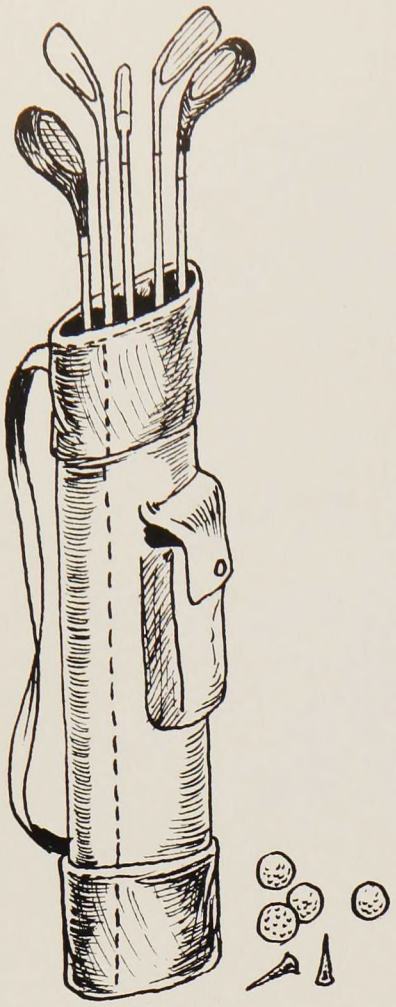
A vital necessity of every basketball game is our cheerleading squad. Spurred on by the pep and enthusiasm of the girls, the stands reverberate with yells and encouragement for our team.

This year, under the leadership of captain Nancy Smith and co-captain Beverly Watson, the girls have ably demonstrated their wholehearted support of the team by their routines at the home games and most of the away games. At the first game, there was a momentary confusion when the cheerleaders suddenly turned into Indians, but the explanation was clear when they presented their new "War Cry" cheer.

The student body, as well as the team, greatly appreciates the efforts of the cheerleaders to support their school and help lead their team on to victory.



Golf



Bill Zick, Warren Johnson, Fred Riccio, Bob Romeo, Sal Danduone.

The spring season of 1957 brought to Bloomfield College another sport, the golf team. Hitting and chasing a little white pellet called a golf ball is not only a famous and favorite sport among business people, but it is one that has aroused interest among younger people in colleges and universities throughout the U.S.

Johnson is considered the most valuable player by his teammates and the team is confident that with the able coaching of Mr. Lanna they will have a good season. It is the ambition of the team that golf should become as an important tenet of Bloomfield's Sports Program as Basketball, Baseball, Bowling, and Track.

Presently, the golf team plays against four other colleges and a total of eight matches. As the team developes, the number of rival colleges will be increased from four to seven.

The potential and ability of the players on the team is abundant and it will be a pleasure to see the success they achieve this season and many seasons to come.

Bowling

The Bowling Team is another College sport that has added greatly to the prestige of Bloomfield College. Under the able coaching and captaincy of a fellow student and graduating senior, the Team has achieved not only a high scoring average, but five consecutive wins in the five games which the Team played last season.

Unfortunately the Team does not belong to the Eastern Inter-Collegiate Bowling League. Presently, competitive play with bowling teams of other colleges is highly restrictive because most colleges belong to the EICBL and rules prohibit any competitive play with teams outside the League.

The Bowling Team, after having compared its averages with the EICBL Teams' averages, feels that Bloomfield College would achieve further merit and commendation if the Team were entered into the League by the College.

Baseball

Spring 1957 was the best season for Bloomfield College's baseball team. There had been a definite upswing trend noticeable since the arrival of Coach Nichols in 1954. Under his skilled coaching, the team has progressed and achieved a very satisfactory record.

The best game of the season was played against Montclair State with another victory recorded for Bloomfield College. Outstanding pitching was displayed throughout the season by Don Pizzi. Captain Joe Blando was chosen as the most valuable player of the year by his team mates. The player chosen as runner-up was Joe Long. The team's record for the year was 8 and 8.

Bloomfield College is proud of the baseball team and its efforts to demonstrate the good sportsmanship and team play which is characteristic of the College.

Track

Pete Lowrigkeit, Alan Bessemer, Henry Ackerman, Don Hatch, John Butler, Mario Pelino, Frank Manhart.

The Track Team at Bloomfield is skillful, able, and agile and has done the College proud at all the meets in which the team has participated.

The Senior Class points with pride to one of the team members, Mario Pelino. Mario, one of the fastest college track men, is considered the most valuable member of the team by his team mates and fellow students who have observed him in action.

Though we are proud of the Track Team and it's fine record, it is somewhat handicapped. While Bloomfield College is expanding its athletic facilities greatly there is also a great need to expand the athletic department so that the potential of the sports inclined student can be brought forth and properly channeled and utilized. A good, well rounded sports program is regarded as essential to a college's growth and function. There are many who feel that an enlarged athletic department is needed at Bloomfield, which would afford proper training so that a sports-inclined student could do well in many sports instead of just one particular sport. This is especially true in Field (Track) competition of which there are many phases.

BLOOMING

Looking Back

An Open Letter

Bloomfield College and Seminary
Bloomfield, New Jersey

To: The Faculty, Administration, and Students
Bloomfield College
Bloomfield, New Jersey

The pages of this yearbook have adequately summarized the material aspects of our stay at Bloomfield College. However, we feel a sincere desire to add a few words of appreciation for the benefits we have received from the abstract realm. Although it is easy to point out the material benefits and achievements, it is the non-material which remains in the minds of college graduates. Memories have accumulated which we will review with pleasure in years to come, but we have gained some things here which will have a lasting affect on our lives.

When we began our first year in college, there was unity in our naiveness. Because this was a new experience in our lives, we were made aware of the similarity of eagerness, enthusiasm, and bewilderment. As we progressed in our educational strivings, we recognized many varieties of personalities, abilities, interests, and goals. With the recognition of these differences there came an understanding of other people outside of ourselves. With an understanding of others came a maturity in our own lives.

The close relationship of student-faculty-administration that exists at Bloomfield College enabled this maturation process to take place. Without the help of sincerely interested professors and administrators, we would not have had the opportunity to develop our characters--as well as our minds--to the point where we would feel ready to become satisfactory members of society.

We have learned a great deal from textbooks in four years, but what we value even more is the insight we have received from our professors. Because of them our eyes have been opened to the vast amount of truth waiting to be uncovered. We have gained a valuable knowledge of the methods of learning and the sources of information available. The facts we have learned will gradually disappear, but our minds have been stimulated so that we can go on learning.

During these four years, we have made many contacts which have greatly influenced our lives. Because of the smallness of the College, we were able to develop some very close friendships with other students and faculty members and the administration. It is impossible to enumerate the benefits we have received from these contacts, but we know that they will remain with us.

It is with a feeling of reluctance that we cut loose the bonds of attachment to college, although it is with eagerness that we look forward to our futures. As we depart from college, we are filled with gratitude for the people who have made our college years so beneficial and inspiring.
